MORE EXPOSITORING.

The slandering Expositor has been compelled to admit that its attack upon the administration of School Superintendent Kirk was absolutely false in every material respect. With the records before it and with a contempt for facts which has characterized it all the way through the campaign, it is forced to acknowledge that it fixed his salary at $600 a year more than it is, and that it manufactured out of whole cloth a story that he had been instrumental in wronging a young lady school teacher out of a month's salary.

To cover its retreat from such a shameful assault upon a conscientious and hard working officer, it cooks up another story to take the place of the malicious falsehood about an injured teacher, and says that a carpenter who did some work on the Green district school house was defrauded out of his money because Mr. Kirk allowed a later claim against the district to be paid in advance of the carpenter's. This is also a falsehood, and is the kind which only a thoroughly disreputable paper is capable of using against an honest officer. A technical point is involved in this case, but an examination of the record shows that Mr. Kirk's conduct was in exact conformity with right and justice.

When Mr. Kirk went into office many small claims had accumulated against that school district, and according to a list of the claims kept by his predecessor the claim which Mr. Kirk indorsed for payment was among the first date on that record, and preceded that of the carpenter mentioned. The point raised against its payment was this: There was some question in regard to the legality of the district's transactions, and Mr. Kirk required the holder of the order which was paid to go to the new trustees of the district to get an endorsement of that order. This they gave in the form of a duplicate, and the two were placed together and presented to the Superintendent and a requisition was drawn for payment. The point raised by the carpenter was that the mason in which the trustees indorsed the claim which was paid should have put it at the bottom of the list, and consequently that his claim should have come in ahead.

Neither as a matter of justice nor of common sense was there anything in such contention. The claim was a prior one against the district, and justly entitled to be paid first.

These facts are doubtless in possession of the Expositor, and suppressed merely because it is determined to reflect on the official conduct of a Republican candidate regardless of truth or decency. It is the infamous policy which it has pursued all the way through the campaign, in which utter falsehood has only been varnished by such distortion and perversion of facts as would serve its vicious purpose equally well. Not a day has passed in this campaign that the Expositor has not shown itself utterly unworthy of belief.

For the sake of the esteemed Stockton Mail we will be particularly glad when the campaign is ended. It is really distressing to see a newspaper which is ordinarily reasonable and temperate acting the part of a devoted partisan. For the past two weeks the Mail has been in a state bordering upon frenzy. To be in the least influenced by its wild utterances, would be to believe that in case Jim Budd is not elected the state would be immediately turned over, body and breeches, to avoid misunderstanding be it understood that the last word is strictly impersonal), to the Southern Pacific Railroad Company and Dan Burns. In its right mind the Mail would not fill its columns with such stuff. If it were not suffering from temporary insanity it would know, just as all the intelligent people of the state know, who have not become incapable of straight thinking, that if Morris M. Estee is elected governor he will perform the duties of his office according to the dictates of his own intelligence. Mr. Estee is a man of positive convictions, firm and outspoken, and no one will be the governor, if elected, as he certainly will be.

Taking the character of the two men into consideration, there is much less reason for believing Mr. Estee's official action would be swayed by any political boss, than that an administration by Jim Budd would be influenced and guided by such boon companions and political compadres as W. W. Foote and Reel B. Terry. No reelection is intended in this on Mr. Budd or his friends, and the statement will not be questioned by those familiar with the characters of the men. Mr. Budd is a man of good fellowship and impunes; Mr. Estee of sober thought, determination and dignity. As the governor of the state Mr. Estee will be far less susceptible to outside influences than would Mr. Budd. All those are things which the esteemed Stockton journal knows to be true, and which it will be willing to admit after the campaign is over, and reason and prejudice now reign supreme.

DAVE HILL came to the rescue of the issue in the hour of his dire necessity, when he was being deservedly pilloried by his fellow Democrats in the United States Senate, and the question now is whether Grover will come to the aid of Hill when he needs assistance more urgently than ever before in his political career. I do not look like he does not. Cleveland's political ambitions are all achieved, and whatever debt of gratitude he may owe to Hill is apparently neutralized by personal animosity. Grover hardly argues, too, that there will be more credit in being defeated by the party in New York than there would be in going down with the wreck.

In the charges which are being made every day in the San Francisco Post against the honor and decency of James L. Budd are untrue, as he says they are, the editor of that paper should be in jail on a charge of criminal libel, and the imperative duty devolves upon Mr. Estee to bring him to justice. He is not a man of the world, but he is a man of the law, and while there is a law to give him redress, the people of California do not enjoy having such things said of a man who is named to be governor of the state, and if they are false the people demand the punishment of the unpeakeable scoundrel who gives them publicity. Mr. Budd is the man to act, and now is the time.

A TYRANTICAL EDITOR in this paper last week caused us to state if the same ratio of gain in the People's Party was maintained in the future as in the past that in 1884 its strength would be 6,000,000,000 votes when it should have been 6,000,000 votes in 1884.—Tulare Citizen.

A little matter of a few billion more or less in Populist figures don't matter at all. Professor Rock, the blackboard expert, can controlo the above "typographical error" without pausing to take a breath.

THE HIGH SCHOOL SITE.

THE L.Q.'S ENTERTAINED.

Why the Terry Block is Objectionable.

TITLE CLOUDED AND UNCERTAIN.

Trustees Eden and Gallagher Give Reasons for the Stand They Have Taken.

It would require a prophet like Isaiah or Ezechiel, who could read signs and interpret visions, to tell when and whether the high school structure will be erected on the Terry block. As the readers of THE REPUBLICAN well know, there are three members of the city board of education who firmly maintain that it shall go on the Terry block. Two say that it shall not go there by their vote, at least while the title is unsettled. The first three are Church, Hadsell and Cummings; the two latter are Gallagher and Eden. In another column of this paper Mr. Church, over his own signature, tells how he stands on the matter, and those who want further enlightenment on the matter are referred to that letter as published. Mr. Cummings was asked if he had any statement to make for publication as to his reasons for not voting on getting the building on the Terry block. He said he had no statement to make.

Trustees Gallagher and Eden had probably the same grounds of opposition. The substance of their objection is that the title to the ground is in dispute, and no settlement seems likely for many months, and they think it their duty to oppose placing the building on land to which the title is not clear, or to postpone the work till the title can be made clear. There is an intense desire, and there is reason to believe it will be a very long time.

Gallagher and Eden opposed the three other members in the manner of awarding the contract. The title for beginning work is left blank. The term state that the building shall be completed within 208 working days from the time of beginning, but there is no time set for beginning. The two members who oppose the wanted the title to be awarded for the opening of school next year. They had earnestly wished that the graduating class next summer might receive their diplomas in the new building; but that is no longer practicable, on account of delay. The next better thing is to have it ready for the opening next year, and it is with this object in view that Eden and Gallagher have insisted that the time for commencing work should not be left blank.

Nobody can tell when the title will be clear. Assistant District Attorney Clarence A. Darrow, D. A. of the San Joaquin, said that there is a way to clear it within three months, provided the party that holds the mortgage is willing, and provided further that Forster Ashe, Mrs. Terry's guardian, is willing. There are two provinces in this. To erect a $300,000 house on land with the title in doubt, is a piece of business which no individual would care to do for himself, and the two trustees who are working the fight on this line, say they endeavor to watch the city's interests with the same caution with which they would guard their own, were they about to put costly improvements on land with uncertain title.

To settle the title in court by the ordinary method would require eighteen months at least. To foreclose the mortgage, wait six months for redemption, then for the statutory limit to appear, then to fight the case through a criminal court, would take a long time. To commence the building, and then lose it on account of the defective title would be a very serious matter.

The three members of the board stated it as their understanding that the title would be clear by the first of December. Gallagher and Eden accepted that, and noted that work began on the 10th of December. Their object was to have the date early so that, in case the title was not cleared by the time other land could be bought and work be commenced, there would be time for getting the building of school next year. But Church, Hadsell and Cummings would not agree to begin work December 10th. By setting the time later than that for commencing work would throw it so far into next year, in case other land had to be bought at last, that the building could not be finished in time for the opening of school next year.

There is another matter, also, which makes it difficult to begin work. The high pressure in California climate is said by builders to be much hotter and more durable if put up in the cold weather and the rains of winter than in the heat and dryness of summer.

Editor REPUBLICAN:—The West Park "Hoodoo," who writes in THE REPUBLICAN about a dance to be given in "Yorick's" old barn in the Highwood Club, evidently got to the club yesterday, and is too much of a sneak to sign his own name.

The building in which a party will be given by the Haymakers' Social Union tonight has never been used as a barn, and is a commodious room of 32 by 50.

The club which gives the party is composed of a large number of the best citizens of the colony, and like the building in which they will give the dance, is doubtless too good for the "Hoodoo" or people of his kind.

A JOLLY GATHERING AT THE REESE VINEYARD LAST NIGHT.

The members of the L.Q. club were called together for the first time for the season last night, and were royally entertained at the Reese vineyard east of Fresno. The hostesses, Misses Russel and Sophie Russel, proved model entertainers, leaving nothing undone that would contribute to the enjoyment of the guests.

Card tables were arranged in the front parlor where the earlier hours were passed. The floor was afterwards cleared for dancing. During an interval light refreshments were served. It was with much reluctance that the guests finally departed for their homes. Those present were:

Misses Ella Hawke and Alice Willis of Sacramento, Margaret Parsons, Nellie Knowlton, Mary Maupin, Carrie Stevens, Mrs. Harvey, Ida Harris, F. A. Howell, A. E. Seymour, Arthur Chance, F. E. Molian, Wick Maupin.

BENSON REPUBLICAN.—A newspaper controversy is bad enough, but a controversy with a newspaper is infinitely worse. Notwithstanding your courteous invitation I emphatically decline to be drawn into such a strife. Even though you should directly impinge my interests as a member of the board of education, I would not shrink from doing so, or threatening to do so, to please you or "the public." I shall have to submit to the affliction, for I am certain of one thing, that after getting all the light I can guide you

CARELESS ABOUT THE TEETH.
The Great Majority Are Negligent In This Important Matter.

Much has been said and written on the care of the teeth because so many persons do not appreciate these valuable organs of mastication. If teeth are well cared for and regularly inspected by the dentist, decay will hardly have an opportunity to do great harm before it is stopped. Decay often has its beginning in bits of food sticking between the teeth and forming the starting point of a diseased tooth.

The toothpick should be used regularly after each meal and after eating. It need not necessarily be employed during a meal or be carried like a cigar in the mouth after eating, but in the privacy of one's room the quill toothpick should search out each corner and angle between the teeth, and all foreign matter should be removed; thus the toothbrush should be used, and as the spaces between the teeth are vertical in a standing person, so the toothbrush should be used up and down rather than across, so that fresh water may be scrubbed between each tooth.

The toothbrushes that shed bristles are not desirable articles of the toilet, for not only are the loose bristles a great annoyance, but they may even work in between the teeth and in the gums and cause painful points. Such loose bristles usually come from cheap brushes or those used for too long a time.

These injunctions about the care of the teeth have to be repeated again and again, because it is such a matter of everyday observance that persons careful in other matters are careless about their teeth. As the teeth are not only very visible, and when in a bad state very prominent, but are also subject to digestion, and if imperfect may lead to dyspepsia and kindred troubles, they should be scrupulously cared for.—Popular Health Magazine.

WASHINGTON IRVING TO POE.

A Letter Full of Genius Criticism and Friendly Counsel.

Poe had through life the habit of sending his better tales and poems to distinguished literary men and soliciting their critical attention, writes Professor George E. Woodberry in The Century in presenting some of Poe's unpublished correspondence relating to his residence in Philadelphia.

He kept the replies and was thus enabled to append to his biography of him in the Philadelphia Saturday Evening Post a long list of criticisms to which in such as had been publicly made.

The following letter from Washington Irving was written in behalf of "William Wilson," which had followed the "House of Fether," as a means of introduction, and the substance of it, much altered and somewhat garbled, appeared in the list referred to and affords a striking instance of how Poe dealt with such correspondence:

NEW YORK, Nov. 6, 1842.

Dear Sir—The news you have so kindly sent to me being directed to New York, instead of Tarrytown, did not reach me for some time. They together with an unfortunate habit of procrastination, must please my apology for the delay in answering your letter, but I will tell you more of them. Said it to Webster Bro's Drug store.
